De Gray Dam
Millwood Money
Picturesque

A letter from Arkadelphia Chamber of Commerce advises me that the new DeGray Dam and Reservoir will be dedicated at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 20, and staffers from the newspaper are invited to this event as well as noon luncheon at Burkett Williams Cafeteria, Ouachita Baptist University.

At least two of us will attend, reporting the event and making pictures for The Star.

The same letter contained an invitation to a special Press Day preview of the DeGray recreational complex Wednesday, but we had to pass this up.

I have been boating on DeGray four times this Spring with either the late Capt. Bob Peterson or The Star's Gene Allen, plus several lake excursions last year before the lake had reached normal level.

It is one beautiful mountain lake and promises to attract hundreds of thousands of persons this season—many from the Hope area.

A report from the Red River Valley Association, Shreveport, brings news that $350,000 for recreational development of Millwood Dam and Reservoir was asked of the federal government, and the same amount is included in the President's budget.

This is timely news. For one thing, Millwood has the fewest and worst launching ramps of any recreational area that I have visited. A comforting thought, however, is that the same deplorable situation exists on the Arkansas River navigation channel. At least that was the case when some Little Rock men and I launched my boat at Russellville last year.

But modern ramps take time and money. It is good to know that improvement is scheduled for our home lake, Millwood.

The Star emphasizes local pictures. It did so even back in the letterpress days when we leased an electronic engraving machine to convert photos almost instantaneously into printing plates; now with our new offset printing press we average about 10 local pictures per issue.

What caused me to reflect on this was a cryptic paragraph on pictures in an article by Philip C. Gersci in the April issue of Quill, magazine of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional society of journalists. He wrote:

"Pictures are the shock troops of publishing. Words are the occupation forces. Pictures are fast. Words are slow. Pictures can reach out and slug the reader before he knows what hit him. Words pick him up and dust him off, by satisfying his curiosity."

I question that line, "Words are slow," because this depends on who is writing them. I am a life-long reader of whodunits, in the better class of which there are arrangements of words that move faster than the quickest camera shutter.

But Mr. Gersci has written a clever paragraph—and I honor him by reprinting it.

Poultry Show
Tickets on Sale in Hope

Members of the Hempstead County 4-H Council and Hope High Chapter of the Future Farmers will be selling tickets for the Poultry Festival in downtown Hope and in the shopping centers Saturday, May 13.

The poultry industry is the largest source of revenue in Southwest Arkansas and accounts for a large percent of local business. The festival, in Nashville May 26, will have the usual features of a 4-H barbecue contest, a poultry cooking queen event, a chicken barbecue and the beauty pageant.

The cost of the tickets is $1.50. This includes a barbecue chicken dinner and the selection of the poultry princess.

California
Primary the Crucial OneBy WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — For the campaigning Democrats who want to be president, the race for nomination has become a grueling marathon, with trial heats almost every Tuesday but no decisive test in sight before California votes on June 6.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota are the principals in that primary election competition, with Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace picking his spots to challenge them.

But for all the investment of energy, money and time, the prospect now is for a month of indecisive primaries, offering portents but little drama, clues but no clear cut decisions on who will emerge as the top man in a divided convention at Miami Beach next July.

Tuesday was typical. McGovern defeated Humphrey in the Nebraska presidential primary, thus maintaining the momentum he gained with victories in Wisconsin and Massachusetts and a narrow loss to the former vice president in Ohio.

Humphrey said he didn't regard Nebraska as critical either way, because it was so close. He said he had run surprisingly well with little time to campaign.

Humphrey trounced Wallace in West Virginia and said it was a win he had earned by confronting the Alabamian while other candidates ran out.

McGovern sought to play down its national significance, saying he would have voted for Humphrey himself given Wallace as the alternative.

Both of Tuesday's contests were waged for psychological stakes. Delegates were elected separately, and it will be several days before it is clear who won them.

It added up to an indecisive round, foretelling another in a week. Michigan and Maryland vote then; Wallace looks formidable in both states.

The early primaries winnowed the Democratic field to Humphrey, McGovern and Wallace all virtually certain to go the route. It is almost as certain that none will prove much in the next month.

But that will change when California becomes the track. Humphrey and McGovern will collide head on; Wallace has said he might stage a write-in campaign there. The primary winner will take away 271 votes for the Democratic nomination.

Two weeks later, in New York, 278 convention delegates will be elected in the final primary.

Long before he announced candidacy, Humphrey said the late primaries in the two biggest states loomed as the decisive tests.

It appears that he was right.

New Mines Are Automatic

WASHINGTON (AP) — The hundreds and possibly thousands of underwater mines dropped by U.S. Navy planes to seal North Vietnam's ports are highly sophisticated devices unlike the old iron contact mines familiar to World War II sailors.

The new mines can be triggered by a variety of means and are equipped with timing devices much like an alarm that both automatically arm and deactivate them.

The timing is determined before the mines are air dropped into the sea.

With President Nixon allowing a three-day grace period for foreign vessels to safely leave North Vietnam's ports, the mines were set to become armed after 6 a.m. EDT Thursday.

The U.S. Navy formally notified all shipping of the mines

Bankers Elect
President

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — B. Finley Vinson, board chairman of 1st National Bank of Little Rock, was elected president of the Arkansas Bankers Association at its meeting here Tuesday.

Van Smith, president of the Bank of Tuckerman, became president-elect.

New officers include Thomas E. Hays Jr., president of the 1st National Bank of Hope, as vice president of the ABA, and Fred Michael, president of the 1st State Bank of Lake Village, as treasurer of the bankers' organization.

Bumpers
Denies
GOP Charge

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers said today there was no truth to allegations by gubernatorial candidate Len E. Blaylock that State Police troopers were being taken off highway patrol duty to escort state officials.

Bumpers told newsmen that Lt. Gov. Bob Riley had a State Police driver, but that he saw nothing wrong with that since Riley has a "serious handicap" — he is blind in one eye and has only partial vision in the other.

Blaylock, the Republican candidate for governor, said Tuesday that troopers were being taken off the highways to perform "mickie mouse" assignments, including escorting government officials. He suggested that this was a cause of the state's mounting highway death toll.

Bumpers also told newsmen that he did not attach political significance to highway safety coloring books printed with federal funds for distribution to school children. Blaylock has said the books are "political advertising" for Bumpers since Bumpers wrote the introduction and the booklets contain a picture of the governor.

The governor said he had no idea that the booklets were to be distributed this week and probably would have asked the state Education Department to hold up distribution until after the election if he had known about it.

Bumpers also replied to the charge of one of his Democratic opponents, Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs, that he was making "unreasonable" furniture purchases for the Governor's Mansion.

The governor said the 1971 legislature appropriated $25,000 to furnish the mansion because it was bare when he moved in. He said there was not even a bed to sleep on.

Mrs. Bumpers is working with other women and interested groups to furnish the house with pieces that have "significance," Bumpers said.

He specifically defended the $2,054 purchase of a Chippendale mahogany silver cabinet from a London, England, firm.

He said the cabinet was relatively simple devices—spiked iron balls which exploded on contact with a ship. Since they floated on or just below the water's surface, they were often easily detected.

The mines now being seeded in North Vietnamese waters either lay on the muddy bottom or are suspended by cable at various depths, waiting for passing ships to trigger their powerful explosive charge.

The three principal types of mines in the U.S. arsenal are:

—Acoustic mines that explode when the noise of a ship's propeller comes within range.

—Magnetic mines, normally used in shallow water, that detonate when a ship passes overhead interrupting its magnetic field.

—Pressure mines, also used in shallow water, that explode when the mine senses a change in water pressure created by a passing ship.

Says Soviet Ship Hit

TOKYO (AP) — U.S. planes attacked the Soviet cargo ship Pevek in North Vietnamese territorial waters Tuesday, causing heavy damage and wounding four crewmen, a North Vietnamese broadcast said.

The official Vietnam News Agency gave no further details on the attack report.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman said "no ships were targeted" by American planes.

Only Half of Blood
Quota Met

The Red Cross Bloodmobile got only one-half of its two-day quota on the visit to Hope May 8 and 9. Fifty-four persons gave blood Monday and sixty-three Tuesday for a total of 117. Sixteen other persons volunteered but were unable to give.

This leaves the county with a deficit of 123 pints for the fiscal year. Bloodmobile chairman Haskell Jones says there will be only three visits in fiscal '73 each being two-day affairs with a quota increase of 25 per cent due to increased growth and usage. Details will be announced for visit by mid summer.

Whitten
Critical of Office

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Vernon Whitten of Bearden, a Democratic candidate for Secretary of State, sharply criticized in a speech here Tuesday night the operations of the office of secretary of state under Secretary of State Kelly Bryant.

Whitten said working conditions in the office are "bad and sometimes sad." He said women employees "frequently carry on their work under interruptions of sobs and tears."

"The behavior and conduct of their supervisor and employer is often discourteous and disrespectful," Whitten said.

Whitten pointed out that a nine-year chief deputy and a nine-year employee recently left the secretary of state's office.

He pointed out that one of them, Jack Ruges, left to oppose Bryant in the Democratic primary.

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) —

W. A. "Tony" Boyle, embattled president of the United Mine Workers, was "invited" to appear today before a federal grand jury investigating the murders of union insurgent Joseph A. Yablonski and his wife and daughter, a federal attorney said.

U.S. Atty. Richard A. Thornburgh said the same invitation had been extended to Suzanne V. Richards, Boyle's executive assistant, and at least two other union officials.

He added that they have accepted the invitations.

Thornburgh said Boyle was not subpoenaed.

"The Justice Department extended an opportunity for Mr. Boyle and his associates to appear, and they have accepted this opportunity," Thornburgh said.

Thornburgh declined to identify the others, but sources said they included William Turnblazer, president of the UMW's District 19; Wayne Channell, assistant to John Owens, secretary-treasurer of the International Union; and a District 19 bookkeeper.

Thornburgh declined to discuss the case further.

Dollar Undergoing
Staggering Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Franz Pick, who believes that a nation is only as strong as its currency, has just issued another indignant report in a long series on the "debasement" of the U.S. dollar.

So mismanaged is the dollar, says the 73-year-old currency authority, that it is now undergoing a staggering decline in all black markets of the collective world, where once it was treasured and hoarded.

"In East Berlin's Unter den Linden Hotel, where 16 marks were once paid for a dollar banknote, one gets less than 11 marks at present," he laments.

"In Prague's Hotel Alcron, it is difficult to get 30 korunas per greenback against 72.50 gotten in 1969."

Pick makes his money advising banks, foreign governments and corporations on currency matters, a labor of love which keeps him traveling the world.

His chief concern about currencies is that they have a tendency to get debased, or lowered in value. It gives Pick fits, and he is forever reminding listeners:

"The destiny of the currency is and will be the destiny of the nation."

What hurts him particularly is that the dollar once was so strong, so desirable, that nobody questioned its value or, as another way of stating Pick's views, nobody questioned the stability of the United States.

"At one time, Washington was able to talk with pride about the 500 per cent premium for greenback dealings behind the Kremlin walls," he commented in his latest "World Currency Report," which he publishes monthly.

But no more. Since the late 1950s and 1960s, he claims, the black market value of the dollar has declined against Communist currencies.

Even more galling to Pick, who fled the Nazis in 1941 and who seems not to like being dictated to on any matter, currency values included, is the apparent stability of the Communist currencies.

"Despite all horrible systems of concentration camps in Siberia, or the political jails in Poland, Czechoslovakia and East Germany," he says, "these lands have, for the last decade or longer, kept a stable cost of living, having no significant budget, foreign trade or balance of payments deficits."

Until the United States gets its monetary house in order, Pick worries not only about its prestige but its power too.

Blockade Effective in 3 Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mining of seven North Vietnamese ports could cut down food supplies for the country's civilians while curbing the flow of arms from Communist allies to Hanoi's military forces.

As much as 40 per cent of the tonnage arriving in North Vietnam from the Soviet Union and other Communist nations has included wheat, flour, rice, soybeans and agricultural machinery.

Even in normal times North Vietnam does not grow enough food to meet its needs, U.S. experts say. And food imports are believed to have become even more important since extensive floods ruined part of North Vietnam's rice crop.

Defense officials acknowledge that food ships, as well as arms ships, will be kept out of North Vietnamese ports. They say the only way to discriminate is to stop the vessels and search them, but the United States has disavowed any intention to do so because, it contends the current action is not a blockade of North Vietnam.

According to recent intelligence reports, about 200,000 tons of supplies were delivered in North Vietnam last month, the vast bulk of it through Haiphong. About 2.2 million tons were shipped in over a year's time, the reports said.

The Haiphong port complex has been modernized and expanded during the more than three years it was free from U.S. bombing.

Virtually all of North Vietnam's heavy military equipment, including tanks, artillery trucks, and surface-to-air missiles, reaches North Vietnam from Russia through the Haiphong port.

Most of the oil and gasoline products which power North Vietnam's supply trucks and tanks also come through Haiphong.

North Vietnam's leadership has tried to reduce reliance on Haiphong and has acted to develop smaller ports to handle more of the incoming ship traffic. Two ports, originally used mostly to export hard coal to Japan, have in the past three years been upgraded to accommodate deep-draft ships.

All Around Town

Roger McLelland has been released from V.A. Hospital to his home after nine months.

Ira (Buddy) Porter has entered V.A. Hospital for treatment.

Henry Allen Long, Jr., age 14, of Baton Rouge, La., earned the first place trophy in Graphic Art, silk screening, in the Industrial Art Division of the Louisiana State Fair recently. He is the son of Master Sgt. and Mrs. Henry A. Long of Baton Rouge, and the grandson of Mrs. Johnny Ferguson, and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Hansford Long all of Hope.

Bombing Only
10 Miles
From China

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Hundreds of U.S. warplanes bombed the Hanoi and Haiphong areas today and streaked to within 60

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today the U.S. troop withdrawal program will go on at the same time President Nixon has taken new military action in Vietnam.

miles of the Chinese border to attack North Vietnam's north-west rail link to China, informed sources disclosed.

They were the deepest and heaviest strikes into the North in four years, the sources reported.

A destroyer task force also bombarded the Haiphong area. Hanoi Radio claimed that 14 U.S. planes were shot down and "many pilots were captured alive."

The U.S. Command refused to comment on the Hanoi claim and gave no details of the raids, saying only that air and naval strikes were continuing against North Vietnam. But it is the command's policy to withhold announcement of plane losses until the search for missing crewmen is completed.

The U.S. Command did announce the loss of four more aircraft since Sunday, including the crash 20 miles northeast of Saigon today of a big U.S. Army helicopter in which 32 Americans were killed. The command said the cause of that crash was not known but the helicopter was on an administrative noncombat mission.

A total of 36 American helicopters and 34 planes have been lost since the start of the North Vietnamese offensive March 30, the command said, with 64 Americans killed in the crashes, 62 missing and 18 wounded. This includes non-combat as well as combat losses.

Radio Hanoi claimed that nine American planes were shot down in the Hanoi area today, three in the Haiphong area, and two in Yen Bai, the province northwest of the capital through which the railway to China passes.

The broadcast charged that the raiders did great damage to hospitals, schools and residential areas in Hanoi and caused many casualties.

Alligator

Too Chummy

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — A banana-loving alligator named Alley has become a bit too chummy with the pupils at Saturn Elementary School.

School officials, figuring there might be a slip twist the banana and the toothy gator's lip, have decided to fence in Alley and keep him away from the youngsters.

Alley lives in a canal a short distance from the school along with another gator. Gordon Crouch, an assistant school superintendent, said children go to the canal and call, "Here, Alley. Here, Alley. They slap the water to get him, then feed him their bananas and lunch sandwiches."

One first-grader recently fell into the canal while attempting to feed the alligator and had to be rescued by a school employee, Crouch said.

-Testimony

By EDITH M. LEDERER
Associated Press Writer
SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Angela Davis rushed to catch a plane for Los Angeles three hours after a bloody 1970 court-house gun battle that claimed four lives, an airline ticket agent has testified.

Pacific Southwest Airline ticket salesgirl Marcia Lynn Brewer said Miss Davis came to a sales counter at the gate two minutes before a 2 p.m. PSA flight was scheduled to leave Aug. 7, 1970, wrote a check for $16.20 and hurried aboard the plane.

In his opening statement, prosecutor Albert Harris Jr. said Miss Davis' hasty departure from San Francisco International Airport that day was "convincing evidence of her guilt" in connection with the shooting three hours earlier.

Mrs. Brewer replied to prosecution questioning that Miss Davis was not carrying any luggage when she hurried to the plane. But under cross-examination she conceded it would be more accurate to state that she didn't recall Miss Davis carrying luggage.

Under questioning by defense lawyer Leo A. Branton, Mrs. Brewer also conceded that she had no recollection of selling Miss Davis a plane ticket when she first talked to state investigators a week after the shootings at the Marin County Civic Center.

Three other witnesses added bits and pieces Tuesday to the prosecution's case against Miss Davis, whose murder-kidnap-conspiracy trial is in its seventh week.

N.K. Patel, owner of the Holland Motel in San Francisco, testified that Jonathan Jackson spent the night of Aug. 6 at his motel with another person, but said he had no recollection of the person accompanying Jackson.

Jackson was a brother of George Jackson, one of the so-called Soledad brothers who was later killed in alleged escape attempt from San Quentin Prison. The state contends the shootout stemmed from a plot to free Jackson from prison.

Patel said the Holland Motel was the last motel in San Francisco before crossing the Golden Gate Bridge to Marin County.

Predicts He Will Be In Runoff

MALVERN, Ark. (AP) — Ted Boswell of Bryant, who earlier in the day said he was "an inch away" from obtaining enough support to get into a runoff with Sen. John L. McClellan, predicted here Tuesday night that he would make the runoff.

Boswell, Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., and Foster Johnson of Little Rock are opposing McClellan's re-election bid in the May 30 Democratic primary.

At Little Rock, Boswell said there was "a great undecided vote" and that indications were that it would not go to McClellan. He also said there were indications that Pryor already had "made all the move he is going to make."

At the Little Rock news conference, Boswell said that McClellan had conducted a "small reign of terror" to prevent persons from withdrawing their support from him and supporting another candidate. He said he had been told by young business and professional men that they had been threatened and intimidated to keep them from supporting another candidate. "Sen. McClellan's alleged vigor is exceeded only by his arrogance," Boswell said.

Boswell, Pryor and McClellan spoke here Tuesday night at a political rally that attracted about 600 persons.

The Bryant lawyer said he was in the position now that McClellan was when he first ran for the Senate. Boswell said McClellan said at the time that a younger man was needed to take over. "I'm in that position today," Boswell said.

He also said he would release within the next 10 days 10 pieces of legislation he would sponsor if elected.

McClellan told the rally about the economic progress Arkansas has made while he has been in the Senate.

4% Food Price Limit

By DON KENDALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite sharply higher food prices early this year, the Agriculture Department is sticking to its February prediction that housewives will pay only 4 per cent more at the supermarket in 1972.

The latest estimate, included Tuesday in an updated food-situation report, said grocery store prices during the first three months this year averaged 5 per cent more than in the first quarter of 1971.

That bulge now has settled a bit because of recent declines in meat prices, the report said.

"But some further rise may be in store this summer," it cautioned. "Seasonal factors, brisk demand and some tightening of pork supplies will account for most of the expected advance."

The predicted 4-per-cent gain for grocery store prices this year compares with a 2.4-per-cent rise in 1971.

All food prices, including meals eaten away from home, are expected to increase between 4 and 4.5 per cent this year, compared with an all-foods boost in 1971 of 3.0 per cent, the report said.

That estimate also was a repeat of a projection made by the department in February.

Officials said meat products, buoyed by higher farm prices and larger middleman spreads, will account for most of the increase this year.

"Pork prices will be sharply higher than last year's extremely low levels, and beef prices will also average significantly higher than last year," the report said.

"Poultry and eggs, on the other hand, which were depressed last year, will rise at a more moderate pace. The advance for fish may be about the same as last year and ... dairy products, less."

Some other predictions included:

—Potato prices may rise slightly this year, compared with a decline in 1971, and fruit is likely to increase during the summer, but not as much as last season.

—Any gain in vegetable prices will be tempered by the usual seasonal increase in supplies. Vegetable prices will likely increase into early summer, (but) perhaps by less than ... a year ago."

For all of 1972, the report said, consumer food spending is expected to total 5.5 per cent more than last year, including adjustments for population increases as well as an upswing in prices. That would mean a national food bill of about $124.8 billion, a $6.5-billion boost from last year.

Civil Strife Stirred Up by Blockade

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's decision to seal off North Vietnamese harbors with mines has touched off civil disturbances, raised a blast of Democratic criticism and brought White House reassurances for "a new era in East-West relations."

But the impact of scattering the undersea explosives to keep ships laden with military cargo from entering North Vietnamese ports probably won't be felt on the battlefield for at least three weeks, White House adviser Henry A. Kissinger said.

Perhaps the strongest denunciation of the President's latest war decision came from Senate Democrats, who Tuesday voted disapproval of the action, and a House antiwar member who talked of initiating impeachment proceedings against the commander in chief.

Kissinger, the White House foreign affairs adviser, told reporters that Nixon was still hopeful of meeting with Kremlin leaders later this month during the planned Moscow summit talks.

"I am not able to predict Soviet reaction," Kissinger said. But he said the decision to mine the harbors would pose "short-term difficulties" for Soviet leaders.

Whether Moscow would scrub the talks, however, remained uncertain. Kremlin reaction was muted.

Jacob A. Malik, Soviet ambassador to the United Nations, told newsmen in New York that "I agree with many American congressmen who condemn the new act of aggression." It was the first comment from a high Soviet official. The official Soviet news agency Tass called the decision "naked aggression."

Peking made no immediate comment on the mining.

A spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegation to Paris said Nixon "has taken the gravest step in the escalation of the war to date, hurling an insolent challenge to the Vietnamese people." And a statement from Hanoi declared "the North Vietnamese people will never accept Mr. Nixon's ultimatum."

Thunderstorms and Hail Hit Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cool weather clung to the eastern half of the nation today and brought a frosty chill to parts of the Midwest for the second day in a row.

Frost warnings were out for Indiana and Ohio, while more frost was likely in lower Michigan and portions of Illinois.

Thunderstorms cracked from the western Plains to eastern Washington.

A tornado watch was in effect in the predawn hours for parts of Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas. Violent thunderstorms raked the area.

One tornado hit at Muleshoe, Tex., and another touched down near Earth, Tex., both northwest of Lubbock, but there were no reports of injuries. A lumber yard was wrecked at Muleshoe.

A thunderstorm near Hooker, Okla., covered the ground with hailstones the size of golf balls. Unconfirmed reports said the hail piled up to a depth of 10 inches.

Hail also was reported at a number of places in Texas and at Denver, while a thunderstorm in Rawlins, Wyo., was accompanied by wind gusts up to 63 miles per hour.

Rain over southern New England and the Middle Atlantic Coast began to diminish as a large storm moved off to sea, but the storm swept the New England Coast with heavy winds.

Reacted Logically to Stress

MIAMI (AP) — A study of some 200 American airmen rescued after they were shot down in Southeast Asia shows the majority reacted logically to the stress situations.

Dr. Anarch F. Zeller, an Air Force research scientist from Norton Air Force Base, Calif., said the responses of the downed fliers "ranged from optimism to sheer panic."

Zeller addressed the Aerospace Medical Association convention in Miami on Tuesday.

The 200 fliers studied ranked from enlisted men to colonels, and 134 of them carried out precise, logical efforts to help rescuers, Zeller said.

Sixty-six showed abnormal reactions including deep depression and panic. Some yelled "into their microphones, bearing the rescue forces for real and imagined ineptness," he said.

Very few of the downed airmen showed much concern for food or water, Zeller said, and only four reported that they took time out to pray.

"But there were two fliers who just had to have a cigarette," he added.

Zeller said nearly all the airmen reported great discomfort from insect bites.

He said six of the 200 men were spotted by enemy forces and managed to escape, and two came face to face with the enemy and escaped.

The fliers escaped from their damaged aircraft in a number of ways. Some used ejection seats and others walked out on the wing and jumped, Zeller said.

Twelve of the 200 came down in trees and had to be rescued as they dangled from the branches in their parachute harnesses, he said.

One man was doubly lucky— or cursed, depending how you look at it, Zeller said.

"He was shot down, picked up, shot down and started all over again."

Judge Jails Baboon
GALLATIN, Tenn. (AP) — Robin Curley pleaded with Judge John Hamilton not to put him in jail because his best friend, a pet baboon, would be homeless.

Now Curley and his baboon, Sarah share a cell in the Sumner County jail.

Curley charged with receiving and concealing a prized Tennessee walking horse, was jailed after he was unable to post $6,500 bond.

"I was going to leave her at my mother's house," Curley, 31, said of his 80-pound pet. "But I drove out of the driveway and she started running after me in the rain, dragging her chain and a heavy weight."

Republican Chairman Supports Nixon

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Charles T. Bernard of Earle, chairman of the state Republican party, said Tuesday he fully supported President Nixon "in the firm and positive direction" that he took in Vietnam.

Bernard said in a telegram to the President that the protection of "our POWs and troops in Vietnam and an honorable settlement or peace is the desire of Americans."

Nixon announced Monday night that he was mining all port entrances to North Vietnam.

"I pray along with you that this brave step will be the answer to our search for a permanent peace," Bernard said.

Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., said Tuesday that history would be "the only way to find out whether he (Nixon) was right or wrong."

"If he feels that this is the only way to free prisoners and the only way to end our involvement in the war and the only way to protect our fighting men, let us only hope and pray that his decision is right," Pryor said.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Tuesday he approved of Nixon's decision.

McClellan said the White House called his office Monday inviting him to a congressional briefing on Nixon's actions. But McClellan, in Arkansas campaigning for re-election, said he could not attend.

Ted Boswell, a Democrat opposing the re-election bid of McClellan in the May 30 primary, criticized McClellan for not attending the White House briefing and a caucus Tuesday of Democratic senators. He said he thought McClellan should have participated in the meetings "at this critical period of time."

Boswell told reporters that the Senate should consider curtailing the war-making powers of the President.

He said Nixon's action was "tantamount to a covert act of war" that would heighten world tensions. He said Nixon "has been engaging in an illusion of withdrawal" of America forces, adding that he was never convinced that the President had a plan for withdrawal.

PRICE REDUCTIONS may be coming, according to C. Jackson Grayson Jr., chairman of the Price Commission. He says consumers may expect hundreds of millions of dollars in cuts as a result of commission enforcement of regulations governing business profit margins.

Thunderstorms and Hail Hit Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cool weather clung to the eastern half of the nation today and brought a frosty chill to parts of the Midwest for the second day in a row.

Frost warnings were out for Indiana and Ohio, while more frost was likely in lower Michigan and portions of Illinois.

Thunderstorms cracked from the western Plains to eastern Washington.

A tornado watch was in effect in the predawn hours for parts of Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas. Violent thunderstorms raked the area.

One tornado hit at Muleshoe, Tex., and another touched down near Earth, Tex., both northwest of Lubbock, but there were no reports of injuries. A lumber yard was wrecked at Muleshoe.

A thunderstorm near Hooker, Okla., covered the ground with hailstones the size of golf balls. Unconfirmed reports said the hail piled up to a depth of 10 inches.

Hail also was reported at a number of places in Texas and at Denver, while a thunderstorm in Rawlins, Wyo., was accompanied by wind gusts up to 63 miles per hour.

Rain over southern New England and the Middle Atlantic Coast began to diminish as a large storm moved off to sea, but the storm swept the New England Coast with heavy winds.

Circle 5 WSCS

Mrs. Donal Parker and Mrs. Birkett Wylie were hostesses for the meeting of Circle 5, WSCS, on Monday, May 8 in the Parker home. Under the direction of Circle Chairman Mrs. Calvin Smith tentative plans were made for fund-raising projects for the new church.

The group of 11 had a thought-provoking discussion of the Book of Matthew. As Mary Anita Laseter asked questions about the gospel, all who were present supplied the answers and opinions. A Friendship Circle was formed at the end of the program.

During the social hour cake and fresh strawberries were served with coffee or cold drinks.

Circle 3 WSCS

Circle 3 of the WSCS met on Monday, May 8 at the home of Mrs. T.S. McDavitt with Mrs. Graydon Anthony, co-hostess. The leader, Mrs. A.M. Hewitt, opened the meeting and conducted the business session.

It was voted to order a study book on Paul for use by the Circle, and all were reminded of the church bazaar to be held in October. Mrs. Hewitt brought an interesting program on "Missions and Missionaries," the work with children and adults.

The hostesses served a dessert plate to 9 members.

Gardenia Garden Club

The lake home on Millwood of Mrs. Royce Weisenberger was the location of the Gardenia Garden Club meeting on Thursday, May 4. A potluck luncheon was enjoyed by ten members and two guests. Mrs. O. A. McKnight and Mrs. G. H. Beckworth. Mrs. Guy Basye and Mrs. Dale Flowers served as co-hostesses.

For this last meeting of the club year, the roll call was answered with "something I have learned this year." Then, Mrs. Jim James used the theme, "Voyage to Hawaii" to install the following new officers:

President, Mrs. Dale Flowers; vice-president, Mrs. Charles Carey; secretary, Mrs. Eugene Tollett; treasurer, Mrs. Hillman Koen; parliamentarian, Mrs. David Waddle; historian, Mrs. Don Fuller.

Luncheon U.D.C.

The Pat Cleburne Chapter, UDC, had luncheon at the Town and Country on Thursday, May 4. Pale pink roses in cutglass decorated the table. The president, Mrs. H. C. Whitworth, and the chaplain, Mrs. C. B. Voss, conducted the business and the ritual.

During this National Music Week, Mrs. Wilbur Jones used "Confederate Music and Southern Music" for the theme of her program. Hostesses were Mrs. Charles Locke, Mrs. Wilbur Jones and Mrs. C.B. Voss.

Kindergarten Visits Egg Farm

On Wednesday, April 12, Unity Baptist Kindergarten visited Clovis Hicks Farms near Emmet. The children watched the freshly laid eggs as they were conveyed from the nest, into the plant, through the washer, the candling booth, weighed on the scales, cartoned and cased.

On Friday, April 14, U.B.K. took a trip to Springlake Park in Texarkana for their annual picnic and trip to the Zoo.

Unity Baptist Kindergarten Ends Year

On Thursday evening, April 21, the Unity Baptist Kindergarten presented their closing program.

Paul Ray Jones presented the American Flag and Marc Rosenbaum introduced the patriotic song. Jeff Neel presented the Christian Flag. The announcers for the devotional part of the program were Betsy Lemley, Jeffery Adams, Jeffery Hart, Alicia Murphy, Roger Hawthorne, and Gina Kidd. Featured soloists were Renea Griffiths, Debbie Walker, Tammy Grant, Gina Whatley, and Bonnie Marcet.

The next part of the program consisted of a group of action songs sung by the children.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of diplomas to the fifteen graduates who wore white graduation hats, with gold tassels and buttons.

Refreshments were served following the program.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The

great American spectator sport of picking a pretty pageant winner had its seasonal debut Tuesday night. It was NBC's live broadcast of the finals in "America's Junior Miss" Pageant from Mobile, Ala.

As pageants go, this one is a neat package. It is contained within a brisk hour of broadcast time, including the commercials, and this seems plenty of minutes to coverage the events. Some of the more leisurely paced show might benefit from watching it.

The high school seniors, representing 50 states, were as usual pretty, healthy and engaging. Host Ed McMahon, a kindly grandfather figure, whipped the show along like a veteran wagonmaster. The contestants had their moments in a longish musical introduction. A handful was involved in a dance number which demonstrated more than anything else that the Rockettes have no close competitors in precision kicking.

Those traditional rites out of the way, the elimination moved the contest quickly down to 10 girls. McMahon questioned each on some weighty subject—the responsibility of the news media, the meaning of obscenity, war, peace and the influence of religion on contemporary life. Each candidate answered with vast sincerity if not always with absolute clarity.

The exciting finale came when the list was cut to five for the talent competition. It was something of a surprise. There were two very competent pianists and three interesting vocalists. Lydia Hodson of Kentucky, one of the singers, emerged as the winner.

It appears that the cavalry is on the way to attempt a rescue of Dick Cavett and his late night ABC series. Jack Paar, an old friend and former employer, will be Cavett's sole guest next Tuesday night. Alfred Hitchcock, who is as rare a sight to the midnight viewer these days as Paar, will drop around on June 8.

The network has given Cavett until the end of July to boost his show's flagging Nielsen ratings—those new CBS movies seem to be pulling a lot of his audience away. If Cavett fails, the show will close at the end of September.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

Are You in a Rut?

DEAR HELEN:

You once said that too many of us live lives of quiet desperation. But there is a point beyond, when you drift into dull resignation and carry the whole family down with you.

I've watched it happen with so many couples, and I see warning signs in us. We're getting disinterested—in almost everything—and we aren't even 45!

Could you work up a questionnaire (similar to your "Is Your Age Showing?") that might help pull stick-in-the-muds out of their rut?—DULL AND BORED DEAR B AND B:

Will try.

Are you living, or just existing?

Study these questions: Don't answer them the way you know they SHOULD be answered—but honestly, after examining how you feel or act more than three-fourths of the time.

1. Would you rather make money than spend it?
2. Do you dread vacations?
3. Would you rather stay home and watch TV than go out? (Keep in mind that "three-fourths of the time" clause.)
4. Do most people bore you?
5. Do you prefer eating alone in a restaurant or the office lunchroom?
6. Do you avoid conversation with fellow passengers on the plane or bus?
7. Do you bring your work along when you travel—and do you get it done? Or anyway worry constantly about it?
8. Do the jobs that "have to be done" crowd in and overwhelm you?
9. Do you hate buying new clothes?
10. Do you think small talk is a waste to time?
11. Would you take a spur-of-the-moment, unplanned trip and enjoy it?
12. Do you often say, "I don't care what people think of me"—and mean it?
13. Is it habit, not love, that holds your marriage together? Are you generally too tired, or too busy for love?
14. Do you blame others for your "bad deal" in life? Or for the way you're treated at home?
15. Do your children drive you up the wall?
16. Are there long silences at your house because there is nothing interesting to say to each other?
17. Does any new venture seem like "too much effort"? Do you find yourself saying "I can't," "You can't," "It could never work," more often than "I can," "You can," and "It could"?
18. Do you reject new ideas and approaches—from food recipes to business management to social change?
19. Do you consider people with hearty laughs crude?
20. Would you pull off the road to enjoy a sunset or do you think of dusk as just another driving hazard?
21. Does walking on the beach barefoot only make your feet hurt?
22. Have you forgotten how to daydream?

23. Would you explore an unknown trail just to see where it leads?

24. Do you think your life is as good as you can make it, under the circumstances? That is, are you so used to boredom that you don't even want change?

If you say "Yes" to more than six of these (remember you've got a "ONE-FOURTH OF THE TIME" leeway), you're approaching a rut and should look for a detour. You're on the crumbling edge of that rut if you answer over ten affirmatively—in fact you may have started the long slide down, but you can still climb out if someone throws you the right lifeline.

Eighteen or over? Good-bye Charlie—especially if you've checked "Yes" to Number 25. Now—Answer the same questions about your spouse, and discuss your disagreements. But no hitting, please!—H.

Women Want More Conservative Clothes

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Do women with conservative budgets want more conservative clothes than the couture customer?

A good many of them do, says Geoffrey Beene. He's aiming his Beene Boutique collection, priced $110 to $295 at a quieter crowd. He's saving a healthy dose of new ideas for his more expensive couture line for fall to be shown later this month.

The boutique clothes seem to be designed for the neat, attractive suburban matron who wants to be well-dressed without being aggressively fashionable.

She is given tried-and-true ideas: Beene's white collars and black bows, lots of knee-length day dresses and matching coats, quiet colors and very few pants outfits.

"Most of the pants combinations are in the couture, where they sell best. It's the reverse of what it used to be," says Beene.

He's also kept for his couture line most of the new topper coats, the new bright colors and wider armholes.

The boutique clothes generally carry over successful ideas from previous years. Dresses have the familiar princess waists, full gored skirts and set-in sleeves.

Evening clothes run from the all-American striped taffeta shirt dress to halter styles with pleated lace, and ruffles. Evening floral prints are clear and pretty, not peculiar, high style or startling.

Beene does sneak a few new ideas in, however. Several evening dresses sported the drooping dolman sleeve. The armholes on an orange evening coat were slightly looser, a gentle version of those very wide-sleeved coats for fall.

For the women in this price range who do want some new ideas, there's a bright blue topper at Elliott Bass, Inc., for about $100. They also offer camel smoking jackets and shirt jackets, with pants.

Drag Racing

Editor The Star: Several years ago Hope had drag races at the Hope Municipal Airport and they seemed to draw many people from around this area. I can not understand why these races were stopped since it stopped racing on highways and public streets. The races also seemed to be safe.

The runways see very little use except from local people and then only one main runway. The other runways are grown up in weeds or are cracked and warped.

In my opinion the town of Hope should allow races on one of these unused runways at the airport. It would give young people a place to run their cars legally and safely. Sincerely yours,

American League Pitcher Posts 171st Triumph

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The baseball strike has been over less than a month but here comes Cleveland's Dick Tidrow starting work earlier so he can stick around longer.

That may violate the basic rules of unionism but Tidrow won't complain if his prescribed earlier warm-ups enable him to pitch better ... and longer. Tuesday night, the rookie right-hander came within one out of his first complete game in the major leagues as the Indians shaded the Kansas City Royals 2-1.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit downed the Chicago White Sox 5-2, Minnesota beat the New York Yankees 4-2, Oakland swept a twinghter from Milwaukee 10-2 and 3-0 and Boston edged California 4-3. Texas and Baltimore were rained out.

Tidrow, a 6-foot-4, 210-pounder who will be 24 on Sunday, began warming up 10 minutes earlier than usual Tuesday night.

"His problem was the first or second inning," explained manager Ken Aspromonte. "He never had that trouble before. It had to be in his warm-ups. So we started early. Spahn (pitching coach Warren Spahn) stayed right with him and he threw hard for 25 minutes and we brought him right into the game. Maybe that's the secret. I hope so."

Tidrow couldn't have pitched much better. He had a two-hit shutout with two out in the ninth when Lou Piniella homered for Kansas City. After a walk and a single, Steve Mincigori came on to get the last out.

Tidrow also delivered a two-out single in the eighth inning and Del Unser followed with a homer for the Cleveland runs. Piniella's home run ended a string of 34 scoreless innings by the Cleveland pitching staff.

The White Sox also ended a streak of 34 scoreless innings ... by their puny hitters, not their pitchers. The two runs they scored in the ninth inning were too little and too late to prevent their third consecutive setback.

Ed Brinkman's run-scoring single and pitcher Joe Coleman's suicide squeeze bunt gave the Tigers a 2-0 lead in the seventh inning. They added a run in the eighth on Norm Cash's RBI single and two in the ninth on a single by Aurelio Rodriguez and Bill Freehan's infield out.

Minnesota's Jim Kaat, the American league's winningest active pitcher, posted his 171st career triumph with help from Wayne Granger in the ninth as the Twins downed the Yankees 5-0.

The A's exploded for the biggest inning in their five-year history in Oakland—10 runs in the fourth—and crushed the Brewers in their opener.

Jim Slaton and Frank Linzy were the victims as Angel Mangual drove in three runs with a double and sacrifice fly and Dave Duncan drove in two with a single. The wild inning included a wild throw by Linzy on a bunt by winning pitcher Ken Holtzman and an ensuing wild throw from right fielder Billy Conigliaro enabling two baserunners and Holtzman to circle the bases.

George Scott and Curt Motton homered for the brewers, but they were blanked in the nightcap on five hits by Blue Moon Odum and Rolfe Fingers. The A's got all their runs in the fifth on a three-base error by left fielder Joe Lahoud, Bobby Brooks' infield hit and Mike Epstein's two-run single.

The Red Sox trailed the Angels 3-0. Bob Oliver homered for one California run—but tied the score with three in the sixth, two on Carlton Fisk's double, and snapped their three-game losing streak on Bob Burda's run-scoring pinch single in the eighth.

Rangers Ruin Bruins' Stanley Cup Celebration

By DAVE O'HARA

Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — The stage was set for a big celebration. The champagne was well chilled, the Stanley Cup presentation ceremonies were outlined, and cameramen were warned to photograph "only appropriately dressed" players in the Boston dressing room.

Then the New York Rangers, playing a role of gate crashers, ruined the Bruins' party, at least postponing it for another 48 hours.

The Bruins were within just 20 minutes, one period, of whooping it up and either sipping the traditional bubbly or dousing each other with it. However, the Rangers rallied and edged the Bruins 3-2 on a pair of third period goals by Bobby Rousseau Tuesday night, sending the National Hockey League's championship playoffs back to New York for a sixth game Thursday.

Down 3-1 in the best-of-seven series and virtually written off by virtually everyone except themselves, the Rangers stunned the Bruins, although out-shot by Boston by a 38-26 margin.

Asked if the Rangers, who defeated Boston only once in six regular season games, could win three in a row for their first Stanley Cup in 32 years, New York Coach Emile Francis smiled and said:

"There's still no tomorrow for us. We have to win every game. As for beating Boston three in a row, see me Sunday afternoon and I'll let you

Marichal Headed for First Losing Season

By BERT ROSENTHAL

Associated Press Sports Writer

Juan Marichal never has had a losing season since joining the San Francisco Giants in 1960. Starting this season, he had the best winning percentage among active National League pitchers with more than one year of service, compiling a .670 mark on 221 victories and 109 losses.

He had pitched 50 shutouts, tops among all active pitchers. He had the third best earned run average in major league history, a 2.94 mark, behind Walter Johnson's 2.37 and Grover Alexander's 2.56.

Now, Marichal is headed for his first losing season. After shutting out Houston 5-0 in the Giants' opening game, he has lost five in a row, including a 7-1 decision to Montreal Tuesday night.

Elsewhere in the National League, Chicago trounced Cincinnati 7-1, Pittsburgh trimmed Atlanta 5-2, St. Louis edged Houston 2-1, and Los Angeles at New York and San Diego at Philadelphia were rained out.

A complete collapse by the Giants' defense in the sixth inning helped saddle Marichal with his fifth consecutive setback.

The Expos had nicked Mari-chal for a run in the third on John Boccabella's triple and Tim Foli's sacrifice fly and another in the fourth on Boots Day's RBI single, before scoring four times in the sixth with the help of four San Francisco errors.

Bob Bailey opened the sixth with a single and went to third when Marichal fielded Mike Jorgensen's bunt and threw the ball into center field. Ron Fairly then lofted a fly ball to center field. Bailey held third, but Jorgensen went to second when Dave Kingman bobbled Ken Henderson's relay throw.

After Ken Singleton was purposely passed, Day hit a grounder to second baseman Tito Fuentes. Fuentes booted the ball into right field, allowing all three runners to score. Day then came home on an error by shortstop Chris Speier.

Meanwhile, Mike Torrez checked the Giants on nine scattered hits for his second victory in two decisions, lowering his ERA to 1.40 in 25 2/3 innings.

Chicago's Ferguson Jenkins, winner of at least 20 games in each of the past five seasons, hiked his record to 3-2, stopping Cincinnati on five hits. He lost his shutout on Johnny Bench's run-scoring single with two out in the ninth.

Earlier, Glenn Beckert and Jim Hickman drove in two runs apiece for the Cubs and Rick Monday collected four hits, including a homer.

Dock Ellis, making his first appearance since being sprayed with mace in Cincinnati last Friday night during an incident involving a stadium guard, worked seven innings and combined with Bruce Kison for a six-hitter in Pittsburgh's victory over Atlanta.

They got support from homers by Willie Stargeland and Dave Cash.

Former Astro Scipio Spinks pitched a six-hitter for St. Louis in stopping his ex-Houston teammates.

The Cardinals scored both their runs in the first inning off Don Wilson.

Trevino Back in Action

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Lee Trevino, back in action after a rare week away from the tour, breezed into Fort Worth Tuesday and immediately was installed as the man to beat in the $125,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

"Spring training is over. I'm ready to go," said Trevino, who has yet to win this season.

"I usually start pretty slow," he said, "but my big problem has been that I haven't had time to practice. With my swing—I kind of block it out—my timing has to be just perfect. And that takes practice."

Trevino, athlete of the year and author of an unprecedented sweep of the American, Canadian and British Open titles last year, has been in position to win a couple of times this season but faltered in the final round each time.

He's easily the top gate attraction at this prestigious event that now is the only invitation tournament, other than the Masters, on the tour schedule.

A select field of about 100 has been assembled for the 72-hole test that begins Thursday on the demanding Colonial Country Club course, a wooded 7,142-yard par 70 layout laced by the meandering Trinity River. It is one of the toughest courses the touring pros play all season.

Last year Gene Littler won it with a three-over-par 283, the only time on the tour all season that a winning total was over par. Littler still is recovering from major surgery and will not defend his title.

Also among the missing are Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper, Gary Player and Tony Jacklin. Nicklaus and Palmer are taking time off. Casper is on a tour of Europe and North Africa. Player and Jacklin have returned to their homes in South Africa and England.

Frank Beard, who has a hand injury, and Tommy Aaron, who finished second in last week's Houston Open, withdrew.

The field still includes most of the leading money winners, however, with big George Archer topping the list. Archer, coming off a two-week rest, is second only to Nicklaus in money winnings this season. He has more than $100,000 and has won two tournaments and lost one in a playoff.

Other leading challengers for the $25,000 first prize include Chi Chi Rodriguez, winner of the Byron Nelson Classic two weeks ago, Houston Open winner Bruce Devlin of Australia, young Jerry Heard, rookie Larry Wadkins and former Colonial winners Homero Blancas and Australian Bruce Crampton.

Some other standouts include Doug Sanders, who tied for second last week, Tom Weiskopf, Hale Irwin, amateur Ben Crenshaw and Miller Barber.

Economists Testify at Senate Sub-committee

Giants' Asking Price a Little Too High

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays apparently won't be coming to New York after all—at least not in a New York Mets uniform.

The Mets said Tuesday that the San Francisco Giants' asking price was simply too high.

"They want players, not money," said M. Donald Grant, the Mets' board chairman. "I told them it was improbable the Mets could provide the personnel they need."

Thus the rumored prospective deal for one of baseball's superstars was cooled in a day.

The Giants reportedly asked for infielder Ted Martinez and one of two pitchers, either John Matlack or Jim McAndrew. The Mets wanted to give the Giants money instead of players.

Grant, however, did not completely close the door on a possible trade.

"I asked Giant owner Horace

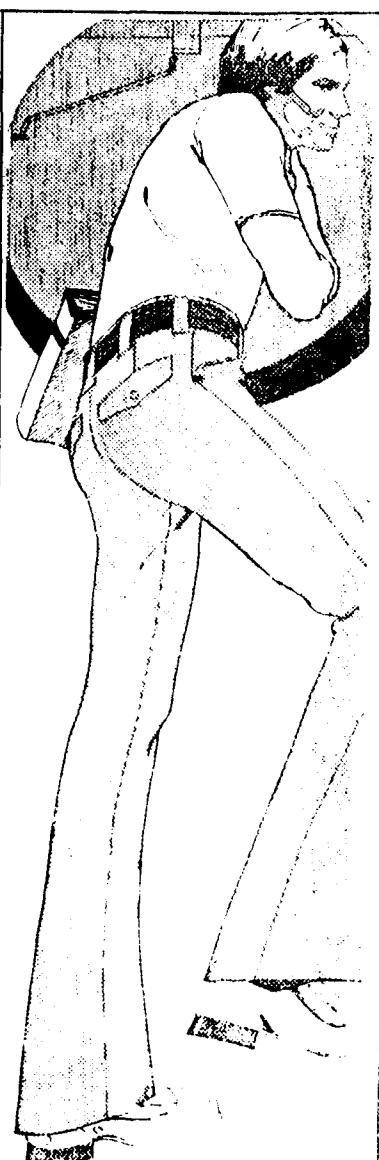

Two Teams Win Upset Victories

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—The home court advantage doesn't seem to mean much to the New York Nets and the Indiana Pacers.

Both teams won upset victories on their opponent's courts to move into the American Basketball Association championship playoff, now tied at one game apiece.

The Nets tied it here Tuesday night with a 117-115 victory over the Pacers. The victory came despite a scorching rally in which Indiana scored 16 straight points.

Now the series moves to New York for the third game Friday night and the fourth Monday night. However, neither coach feels the home court advantage will be any more for New York than it was for Indiana.

A Tribute TO MOTHER On Mother's Day

She was the busiest woman in the world, around whom our family life revolved. She was a pilot who guided our destiny, a general who marshalled our resources. When spirits were low she was a fountain of courage. She coaxed, prodded, spanked and loved us into making the most of our lives. From her lips came guidance and counsel. In the small hours of the night she came at our call. As a cook, maid, tutor, chauffeur and judge she ran the family with a firm but gentle hand. Her inner resources were a constant source of inspiration. Next Sunday we salute and honor all Mothers for their years of love and devotion.

McGovern Expects Big Victory

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

Sen. George McGovern has defeated Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey in their Nebraska primary and Humphrey walloped Gov. George C. Wallace to score what he termed "a truly magnificent and great victory" in West Virginia.

"I have a strong and growing hunch this will be a big victory for us," McGovern told his Nebraska supporters in Omaha by telephone from Washington shortly before returns from Lincoln and rural areas gave him victory in the clearest test between the two Democratic presidential hopefuls before their June 6 California contest.

The South Dakota senator seemed likely to emerge as Humphrey's chief rival for West Virginia's 35 delegates to the Democratic National Convention. They are being chosen separately from the nonbinding preference contest in which McGovern wasn't entered.

Both primaries Tuesday featured nonbinding presidential preference contests and separate delegate races, with long lists of candidates likely to delay the final results until later in the week.

In Nebraska, McGovern took the lead as the count neared the halfway mark after he trailed in earlier returns weighted heavily with votes from Omaha, where Humphrey had strong union backing.

Humphrey had staged a strong last-week drive to overcome the South Dakota senator's nine-month organizing campaign in the conservative, predominantly Republican rural state.

McGovern said in Washington that Humphrey's inroads into his support during the last week were the result of what he called "scare tactics" revolving around his views on legalization of marijuana, abortion and amnesty.

Profit Margins Higher Than a Year Ago

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the big stick now carried by the Price Commission, the feeling persists in business circles that the overall impact will be more like a tap on the hand than a clout on the head.

Most frequently heard is the comment that the country

Audubon Meeting at Mt. View

The annual Spring meeting of the Arkansas Audubon Society was held at Mountain View May 5, 6, 7, 1972, with Freeman Thomas of Jacksonville presiding. Over 200 birders registered for the meeting. The Mt. View Chamber of Commerce, Jaycees, and Lions Club were hosts.

On Friday night Jimmy Driftwood and the Racken-sack Folklore Society entertained with a concert.

Bates Littlehales, National Geographic Society representative, is in Mt. View working on a story on folk culture. Folk culture all over the world is being studied and Mt. View, Ark. is the only such area in the U.S.A. to be chosen.

Tommy Simmons, head of the National Folk Culture Center, reported on the progress of the building. On Saturday morning Jack Griswold of the National Forest Service conducted a tour of a portion of Blanchard Caverns. At the dinner meeting on Saturday night, Thomas Foti of Pine Bluff spoke on the designation of Wilderness areas in the state. Also speaking was Bill Sheppard of the State Planning Commission.

The composite list of bird species sighted was 136, the greatest number for any previous meeting. It was announced that the Fall meeting would be in October in Pine Bluff.

needs profits to feed the expansion and that the administration therefore cannot clamp down too hard.

If the Price Commission interferes too directly or bluntly to depress the gathering economic momentum, these business spokesmen add, the consequences will be political as well as economic, a major consideration always but more so this year.

Perhaps the greatest source of confidence are figures showing that profit margins, while higher than a year ago, are still beneath levels of many recent years.

"When a firm reports that its earnings are triple those of a year earlier—as Chrysler did in the first quarter—it is usually a sign that profits in the earlier period were unusually low," says First National City Bank.

Overall, says First City, "the rise in factory margins during the past year was slight, but results varied widely from industrial to industry. On a seasonally adjusted basis, it claims, profit margins have changed little.

It concedes, however, that "the threats of rollbacks and changes in the rules governing prices and profits cannot help but chill the business climate and discourage risk-taking."

Standard & Poor's, one of the oldest of the market advisory services, states:

"Tough talk from the Price Commission, threatening selective rollbacks of price increases, could be less damaging than the spate of headlines might suggest."

A trillion-dollar economy is too large, S&P suggests, to suffer in a major way from the voluntary price restraints and enforced cutbacks.

"Moreover," adds S&P, "Grayson (Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson) maintains that he is intent on 'holding down prices, not profits.'"

Makes Campaign Attack on Government Reorganization

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst, 53, of Hot Springs has focused his gubernatorial campaign attack on the Bumpers administration's most prized development: state government reorganization.

"When the people know the truth about this conglomerate of state agencies, there has to be a great rebellion across the state of Arkansas," said Hurst, dean of the Senate with 22 years experience.

Gov. Dale Bumpers repeatedly hailed the approval by the 1971 legislature or the reorganization plan as the No. 1 achievement of his first legislative session. The plan organized about 60 state agencies into 13 departments. The aim, Bumpers said, was to streamline government and make it more efficient.

But Hurst said it hasn't turned out that way. "Our present governor, in a so-called economy move, 'streamlined' our state government by adding 620 new employees to the state payroll in the first 10 months of his term at a cost to the taxpayers of $5 million in the first biennium," Hurst said.

Hurst was a surprise entry into the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Before the filing deadline, he had said he would not seek reelection. The presumption in political circles was that he was bowing out partly because he narrowly averted defeat in the 1970 election.

Then, with 30 minutes left in the filing period, he filed for the governor's race. He said his decision to run for governor was in part the result of the political climate he found on trips out into the state.

"There's more discontentment than you think," Hurst told a newsman. "I started taking a few trips out over the state and I found this general discontent, not just in Hot Springs, where they feel some disappointment. It was quite general."

In this, Hurst said, he sees a parallel with history and Gov. Francis Cherry of 1954, who failed to win a second term. However, Cherry's first-term victory was nowhere near the landslide scored by Bumpers in 1970.

Still, Hurst believes that the similarities between Bumpers and Cherry were enough alike that he says: "I think he's another Cherry. You'd think history was repeating itself, they were so similar."

Hurst's attack on the governmental reorganization plan is expected to win him some backing among established political figures, particularly those in some of the agencies that were consolidated with others by the plan.

Outright repeal of the plan is not his goal, Hurst said. But, he added, he favored a system in which agencies that "historically have been rather independent" would be returned to their old positions.

The plan itself gave the chief executive administrative power unparalleled in Arkansas history, Hurst said. "In one short session, in our loyalty to the Democratic party and in our haste to cooperate, we have given to him more power than any governor has ever had in Arkansas," the senator said.

Hurst, an attorney, was a colorful legislative figure, often associated with liquor interests and the gambling that flourished in Hot Springs. He sponsored a bill during the Winthrop Rockefeller administration to legalize casino operations in Hot Springs, and the General Assembly approved. But Rockefeller vetoed the bill.

"I will never introduce or sponsor legislation to the benefit of my community," Hurst said, assuming he would be elected. "The question of some type of legalized or controlled gambling will never be proposed as long as I'm governor."

Fate of Treaties in Doubt

By ROON LEWALD
Associated Press Writer

BONN (AP) — The fate of Chancellor Willy Brandt's treaties with the Soviet Union and Poland were put in doubt once again today as Moscow withheld concurrence in a statement that the treaties do not legalize the Soviet and Polish titles to German territory seized in World War II.

West Germany's parliament had been scheduled to open debate today on the treaties, which recognize German territorial losses in the war. But the ratification vote may now be delayed until next week or later. Failure to ratify the pacts would threaten the movement toward wider East-West détente and would block implementation of the Big Four agreement providing greater access to West Berlin.

Because Brandt is not sure he can muster a majority in parliament to approve the treaties, he has been trying to get the support of the opposition Christian Democrats to insure ratification. But opposition leader Rainer Barzel's price was Soviet approval of a West German declaration making clear the treaties did not rule out the unlikely possibility that the Big Four might some day give West Germany a peace treaty returning some of the territory.

Brandt and Barzel first worked out a statement that "the treaties do not express any position on the legal basis of the present borders and do not prejudice a peace treaty regulation for Germany." Government spokesman Conrad Ahlers said Moscow indicated it would approve this draft.

Ministerial Alliance Meets

The Hope Ministerial Alliance held their monthly meeting last Monday, May 8. Dr. W. G. Wynne, pastor of the Bethel A.M.E. Church and Chairman of the Religious Events Committee for the Hope Centennial Celebration, gave a report from his committee and requested the support of the Alliance in this endeavor. There were two resolutions passed by the Alliance in this meeting. The first resolution was to name a committee of three to work with Dr. Wynne and his committee in planning the religious activities for the Centennial.

A second resolution was passed pertaining to a recent incident at the junior high school, pictures of which were published in the Hope Star. This resolution was sent to the School Board requesting that a statement of explanation be published in the Hope Star that the public may know what is being done to see that further incidents of this nature do not take place.

The president of the Alliance, the Reverend Vernon Wickliffe, presided over the meeting.

Bumpers to Address Health Group

Dale Bumpers, governor of Arkansas, will be the keynote speaker at the 24th annual meeting of the Arkansas Public Health Association. "Public Health and the Political Process" is the theme for the two-day meeting which will be at the Arlington Hotel in Hot Springs May 17 and 18. Over 800 persons throughout the state are expected to attend.

Those attending from the Hempstead County Health Unit are: Mrs. Inez Turner, PHN II, Mrs. Jo Carol Patterson, PHN I, Mrs. Sue McCorkle, clerk, and Jerry Irby, sanitarian.

Five group conferences and luncheons are scheduled Wednesday afternoon. Speakers at these sessions include U.S. Representative David Pryor; Lt. Governor Bob C. Riley, and Mrs. Diane Kincaid, Chairman of the Governor's Commission on the Status of Women.

Outlook for the future is the topic of a panel presentation on Thursday afternoon.

Other activities will include an awards banquet and installation of officers for the 1972-73 year. The meeting will be open to all members and registered guests.

Arnold Challenges Opponents

MALVERN, Ark. (AP) — Richard Arnold of Texarkana, a Democratic candidate for Congress in the 4th District, said at Pine Bluff and Malvern Tuesday that he would "throw open the books" and reveal the names of all those who contributed to his campaign. He challenged his opponents to do the same.

"Anybody...may look at our books at any time and see who has contributed to our campaign," Arnold said, noting that federal law requires candidates to reveal only contributions of more than $100 after April 7.

Arnold said at Malvern that no one will have any uncertainty who is backing him in the campaign.

Arnold, Jack G. Coleman, 27, of McGehee, Ray H. Thornton of Sheridan and Richard Mays of El Dorado are the candidates for the congressional post.

Coleman, in speaking at the rally Tuesday night in Malvern, attacked the financial backing of Thornton, accusing him of being a candidate for special interest groups. Thornton is the nephew of W. R. Stephens, president of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co.

Coleman accused Thornton of pressuring certain groups in Pulaski and Lonoke counties to withhold campaign contributions from Thornton's foes.

Asked later to elaborate on his remarks, Coleman said he could not do so "at this point in the campaign."

Thornton said in an interview afterwards that he would run "a positive campaign on issues affecting South Arkansas." "And I will perform in the future just as I have performed in the past as attorney general," Thornton said.

Notice of Appeal Filed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A notice of appeal was filed in U. S. District Court here Tuesday by plaintiffs in the suit seeking to halt construction of the Gilliam Dam on the Cossatot River. The appeal is of the court's decision permitting Army Engineers to resume construction on the dam.

U. S. District Court Judge G. Thomas Eisele halted construction in February 1971, but lifted the injunction last Friday.

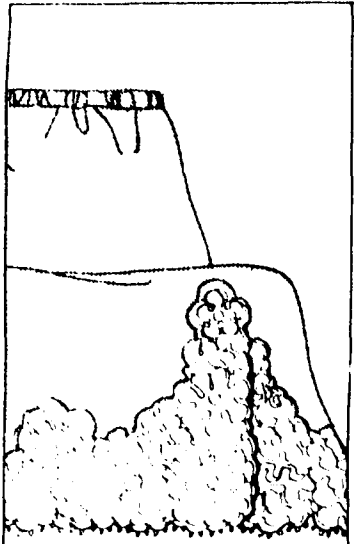

Wellborn Jack Jr. of Shreveport, La., attorney for the plaintiffs, argued in a brief filed with the appeal that an injunction halting work on the dam pending the appeal would not harm the Engineers or the public.

Thousands of Refugees Flee

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent
DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) —

Opposition Delays Construction

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate Appropriations subcommittee was told Tuesday that environmental and wildlife groups seemed interested in helping birds and fish instead of people.

Advocates of water projects told the subcommittee that opposition by preservation groups was delaying construction of worthwhile programs and increasing their costs.

Testifying for the Lower Mississippi Valley Flood Control Association, David Solomon of Helena, Ark., urged that federal budget requests for the Lower Mississippi be increased from $95 million to $119.8 million.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the subcommittee, said, "We must do something about improving the environment, but not at the cost of smothering worthwhile projects."

Calvin T. Watts and John F. Stroud Jr. asked the subcommittee for increases in budgets for the Red River project in Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas.

Watts, executive director of the Red River Valley Association, recommended that the project's budget be increased by $4,050,000 from $34.69 million to $38.74 million.

The association urged $14 million for the Arkansas-Red Chloride Control project, which is not in the federal budget, and several increases in other project units.

dreds of thousands of refugees stream out of their homes and villages, away from the enemy, away from the bombings and the artillery barrages.

By boat and army truck, they come in an endless flow of misery, on foot, on motorbikes, on incredibly overloaded buses from places that are no more.

Dong Ha, Quang Tri, Cam Lo. Da Nang is the mouth of the great river; more than 300,000 homeless have poured into the lovely old French port at the bottom of the 3,000-foot-high Hai Van Pass, the Pass of the Clouds.

Some never get there at all. The carcasses of two army trucks and a bus that once ran from Dong Ha to Hue to Da Nang lie in deep ravines among a rubble of shattered crates and suitcases, mute testimony to the treacherous curves on the winding, climbing road through the pass.

A few days ago a wooden and straw junk, loaded with 110 refugees, capsized and sank in a storm along the coast.

American civilians working with Vietnamese welfare officials estimate 250,000 persons are trapped in the northern villages between the new front line above Hue and the demilitarized zone.

Camp Books, which the U.S. 1st Marine Division vacated two years ago, is a ghost town come back to life. Families from Dong Ha and Cam Lo, which the Marines once secured and pacified, hang their washing and cook their noon-day rice in the screened-in barracks still bearing the signs: "Gunnery Sergeant's Hooch," "Exchange Laundry Shop," "Personnel Decon Station," "A Company Mess Hall."

For some, from the country, the living is easier than they have ever known: electricity, fresh water, plumbing, housing with tin roofs, wooden floors year.

and screens. Vietnamese public health officers visit the eight military camps reclaimed from the past, lecturing the people on how to use the toilets.

The best organized refugee center is Camp Land, a former U.S. prison stockade still ringed with watchtowers and 12-foot-high concertinas of triple mesh barbed wire. The camp's self-government committee, meeting in what once was the warden's office, has organized bus service into town, schooling for the children and a project of straw-hat-making to raise some community funds.

The caucus position on the cut off was believed to be the first time a party expressed itself on Capitol Hill as in favor of stopping war money.

The debate has languished on Case-Church for a week, with its critics saying to even discuss it would encourage the North Vietnamese. At one point, agreement was said to have been reached to put off the question until the President returned from Moscow. Case-Church supporters are felt to be shy of enough votes, perhaps a half-dozen, to win.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., referring to reports that a large number of Democrats did not want to act at all, said the votes themselves were significant.

The day's session was marked by Sen. Mike Gravel's reading of excerpts of secret 1969 National Security Council papers into the record along with the pro and con debate of the other senators.

Gravel said the excerpts prove the President's plan has been discounted as ineffective by the CIA and the Department of Defense.

There was Democratic discontent over the President not consulting Congress before moving on with his latest plans. Democrats had agreed in caucus Monday to defer Case-Church action to hear from the President. But, Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and others only heard from the President a few minutes before his broadcast announcement.

Miller also countered the charge by saying that the number of contacts troopers made with violators was higher in the first three months of this year than in the same period last year.

Miller said the reason for the fatality increase was an annual rise of 5 to 7 per cent in the number of automobiles and drivers on the roads without an increase in State Police personnel since 1969. In addition, he said there were more highway miles to cover since the opening of more of the interstate system.

Miller also countered the charge by saying that the number of contacts troopers made with violators was higher in the first three months of this year than in the same period last year.

Senate Steps Up Debate

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The

Senate, pushed by anti-administration votes in a Democratic caucus, planned to step up debate today on whether to cut off money for all U.S. combat forces in Indochina.

President Nixon's decision to mine North Vietnamese ports and his plea for a united American front was submerged in a cross-fire of statements in the Senate wing Tuesday and the unprecedented action of the Democrats.

In caucus, the Democrats voted 29 to 14 to go on record "as disapproving the escalation of the war in Vietnam as announced by the President."

The Democrats also decided, 44 to 0, to proceed with the pending Case-Church end-the-war amendment, and they approved 35 to 8 the cut off if it is modified to become effective four months after agreement is reached on the release of prisoners.

The caucus position on the cut off was believed to be the first time a party expressed itself on Capitol Hill as in favor of stopping war money.

The debate has languished on Case-Church for a week, with its critics saying to even discuss it would encourage the North Vietnamese. At one point, agreement was said to have been reached to put off the question until the President returned from Moscow. Case-Church supporters are felt to be shy of enough votes, perhaps a half-dozen, to win.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., referring to reports that a large number of Democrats did not want to act at all, said the votes themselves were significant.

The day's session was marked by Sen. Mike Gravel's reading of excerpts of secret 1969 National Security Council papers into the record along with the pro and con debate of the other senators.

Gravel said the excerpts prove the President's plan has been discounted as ineffective by the CIA and the Department of Defense.

There was Democratic discontent over the President not consulting Congress before moving on with his latest plans. Democrats had agreed in caucus Monday to defer Case-Church action to hear from the President. But, Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and others only heard from the President a few minutes before his broadcast announcement.

Cites Red Tape as Menace

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)

Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., told the Lions Club here Tuesday that government red tape, sometimes referred to as "federal form pollution," was one of the "greatest menaces" facing the country today.

Pryor said he realized government could not operate without some red tape, but he said he thought Congress should take necessary steps to reduce and simplify paper work, and "I pledge myself to work toward that end."

Pryor is one of three candidates opposing the re-election bid of Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., in the May 30 Democratic primary.

The congressman said a substantial number of small businessmen could not cope with the increasingly high costs brought on by government red tape.

Recover Body from River

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)

The body of Ronnie L. Tuckness, 28, was recovered from the Arkansas River Tuesday night, according to Chief L. E. Turner of the North Little Rock Fire Department.

Tuckness was a patient at the Ft. Roots Veterans Hospital here.

Witnesses said Tuckness removed his shirt and shoes and apparently tried to swim to a sandbar but could not make it.

In the early days of contract, the most successful players didn't bother with grand slams. Bidding was in its early development and they were satisfied to collect the small-slam bonus.

Today, they have learned to bid grand slams and, of course, Blackwood is one of their grand-slam tools.

Sometimes the Blackwood bidder can go right to seven after finding out that his side holds all four aces. On other occasions, he rebids to five no-trump. This bid asks partner to tell him how many kings he holds.

Strangely enough, this is not the chief value of the Blackwood five no-trump. Its chief value is that it tells partner that the side does hold all four aces. On many occasions, this information will enable partner to bid seven.

Today's hand is a good example. South intends to bid at least six spades after his partner's jump raise to game. He uses Blackwood as a start toward a possible grand-slam contract.

His partner responds five diamonds just as South expected he would and South bids five no-trump. South intends to bid seven if North shows all four kings, but South doesn't expect that to happen.

It doesn't! North has just two kings, but North doesn't care. The fact that South has announced the other three aces is enough for North. He can see 13 easy tricks and bids the grand slam himself.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

♥ CARD Sense ♦

The bidding has been:
West 1 ♣ North 1 ♥ East 1 ♠ South 2 ♣
Pass 2 ♦ Pass 2 ♠

You, South, hold:

What do you do now?

A—Bid two no-trump. Your partner has made a very strong bid.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues to three spades. What do you do now?

How Do Babies Get Here?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am 13 years old and I have a problem which is of general interest to girls my age. Today some girls at school were talking about having babies, and I was wondering what the procedure is when you have a baby. I know that you are taken to a room and when you come back you have had a baby. But what happened in between?

Dear Reader—Now, you've really got me. Your simple, innocent question would take several columns to answer but it's important that it should be answered because it deals with one of the most normal and important personal aspects of people's lives. A lot of girls your age who need basic information aren't getting it.

I do hope that you can talk with your mother about this, or perhaps you have a favorite teacher to whom you would like to talk to about it. Your teacher might even show you diagrams to help you understand the problem.

I will try to tell you this much. The baby, of course, grows and develops inside the mother, and it takes about nine months. During this time, the woman's body is undergoing a lot of changes, preparatory to birth. The baby is in a rounded bottle-shaped organ which many people call the womb. This flask-shaped organ has strong muscles in its wall and when the mother goes into the room, to have her baby, these muscles in the womb contract vigorously and push the baby out of the opening of the vagina. Of course, this opening undergoes changes and dilates in preparation for this. It is a simple, mechanical event

QUICK QUIZ

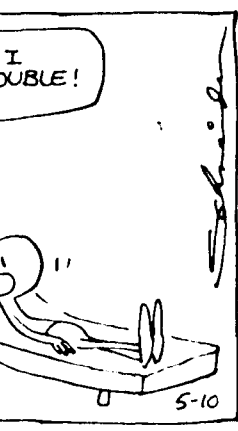

Q—In what year were there no Winter Olympic Games?
A—The Winter Games began in 1924. There were no games in 1940 and 1944 because of World War II.

Q—Why is ammonia commonly called spirits of harts-horn?
A—Because it was first obtained by boiling and distilling the horns of animals, chiefly deer.
